Questions & Answers

WITH

Jefflyn Williamson

When asked to describe herself as a teenager she said, "a fearless overachiever with lots of friends"... you would naturally assume a person like this would do well. And you would have been so right.

As it turned out Jefflyn absolutely succeeded in the world of commercial real estate which had formally been a male's domain.

As president of Jefflyn and Company this most attractive (and single) woman has "done deals" in 27 towns in and around Dallas.

Her mentor is Ebby Halliday, whom she gives credit to for launching her into the biz.

The first in her family to get a degree, she was Magna Cum Laude at University of Texas in Dallas. Jefflyn's other consuming passion is serving as President of the Board of Our Friend's Place, a home and transition center for young girls who have been abused or abandoned.
